LOOK TO LIFE'S

Pastor, In Sermon, Tells of Future To Be Gained.

The sermon at St. Paul's church yestorday morning was by the rector, the Rev. Charles E. Perkins, on the subject "The Brighter Side of Life." His text was Genesis 45:5: "Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with your-selves, that ye sold me hither; for God did send me before you to pre-

"At times the advocates of Christianity," said the speaker, "have seemed to lay so much emphasis upon the consideration of the future that superficial critics have seemed to think that a present program was out of the qution. Yet any one knows that a dis-mal vision of the future can produce no good results in the present. A visof a bright future must be a pres-After the storm the silver lining of the clouds becomes evident. But that man is to be counted happy who anticipates the silver lining all while. It has been said that worth £1,000 a year to be able to look on the bright side of life. Such an employe is worth much to his em-ployers. Who does not like the cheerful clerk to wait on them in the stores' The Saturday and early closing should ultimately result in great financial gains for the very reason that it helps the clerks to feel that life is thus made ess burdensome.

"Looking to the end has sometimes made persons imagine hat if this were high that any means to that end were justifiable. A study of that part of Christendom that has applied this principle will convince one that it is not worthy of an honest man. In the case of Joseph, because God overruled the wickedness of his brethren for their ultimate good, we dare not judge that the end justifies the means, for this was not their end and aim. However, Joseph sees God's hand working and learns the lesson that there is a destiny that shapes our ends, rough

Because Jesus was a man of sor rows and acquainted with grief, and because asceticism has found a place, that Christianity fosters a morose face, or that a long face, so called, has any part in it. The Master brought sunshine into the lives of all honest souls who came into contact with him. His great apostle exhorted his followers to rejoice always. The first Christian martyr's face shone as it had been the face of an angel. The martyrs of the arena went to their death with God's sight are but as a day. It is for this reason that we cannot estimate the value of contemporaneous history. We must view it in the light of eternity. This makes one use time to its best advantage. The student who keeps the vision of his degree and diploma before him truly looks to the fullay. Christian the light of lay. ploma before him truly looks to the future, but he makes the most of each day. Christianity therefore says that now is the day of salvation.

"Again, we must have faith in God. To know that He is concerned in the affairs of men, to call some things providentire, is well worth our thought. Thus it was that Joseph regarded his being taken down to Egypt. This will help us to look on the brighter side of life. The spirit of the world absorbed in present things only is never satiated. To make the most of the present a consideration of God and the eternal present are most essential.

Utonian Tent No. 12 held regular re-view on Wednesday evening last. After transaction of the usual routine work the tent discussed the matter of changing the character of the meetings with view to imparting renewed enthusi asm in carrying out the aims and objects of the order. It was felt that this great, big, strong institution was not doing the work it should do, and this tent wants to do its part. The L. C. T. M. have been staunch supporters of the tent in the past, and it was pro-posed to endeavor to enlist the co-operation of the ladies in building up the membership of both branches of the order. Sir Knnight J. B. Wilkins was appointed a committee of one to confer with the ladies and report at next

At the next review of the tent arrangements will be made for joint meetings, entertainments and outlings with the ladies, the purpose being the establishment of a proper understanding between the hives and tents where ing between the fives and tents where-by they can work together for mutual advantage.
